

May 23, 2008 – Denver CO

References-Online Launches Its New Website!

References-Online, headquartered in Denver, Colorado provides flexible, cost-effective reference management solutions that improve your sales effectiveness and enhance your customer relationships.

Our solutions have enabled a range of companies—from smaller, venture-funded companies to large, global enterprises—to leverage their valuable customer relationships and effectively manage their customer reference programs.

At its most basic level, References-Online is about using technology to make human connections between business people. Now, References-Online is launching a new website that even better reflects the direction, commitment and message of the company.

To find out more about the References-Online mission, and the suite of products and services designed to help you get more out of your reference program, visit the new site today at: www.references-online.com.